إِنَّ الصَّلَاةَ كَانَتْ عَلَى الْمُؤْمِنِينَ كِتَابًا مَّوْقُوتًا

"Indeed, prayer has been decreed upon the believers at fixed times." (an-Nisāʾ 4:103)

Prayer Tracker and Khatm Planner

Track the five prayers, build the habit in your children, make up what you missed, and complete the Qur'an at your own pace.

Two habits shape a Muslim’s life more than any others: the five daily prayers, on time, and a steady relationship with the Qur’an. This planner helps you keep both. Track your prayers each day, help your children build the habit with a star chart, keep a record of any prayers you need to make up, and choose a plan to complete the Qur’an, whether in a month, a season or a year.

The prayer	“The first thing a servant will be called to account for on the Day of Resurrection is the prayer” (an-Nasāʾī 465, at-Tirmidhī 413). The most beloved deed to Allah is “the prayer at its time” (al-Bukhārī 527, Muslim 85).
The Qur’an	“Whoever reads a letter from the Book of Allah has a good deed, and a good deed is multiplied by ten” (at-Tirmidhī, 2910). “Read the Qur’an, for it will come on the Day of Resurrection as an intercessor for its companions” (Muslim, 804).

How to use this planner

Print the pages you need, as many times as you need: one monthly tracker each month, one star chart each week for a child.

Be honest in your marking: the tracker is for you, not for show.

Start small with the Qur’an. A few pages after every prayer completes the Qur’an in a month; two pages a day completes it in a year.

Part 1 My monthly prayer tracker

Mark each prayer: ✓ prayed on time J prayed in congregation (jamāʿah) L late M missed (and write it in the qaḍāʾ log).

Part 2 My child's prayer star chart

For children from seven years: "Teach your children to pray at seven" (Abū Dāwūd, 495). Colour a star for each prayer. A small reward at the end of the week builds the habit with love.

Part 3 My qaḍāʾ log

A missed obligatory prayer must be made up as soon as possible, at any time, even in the times when voluntary prayer is disliked: “Whoever forgets a prayer or sleeps through it, its expiation is to pray it when he remembers it” (Muslim, 684). In the Mālikī school, a few missed prayers (five or fewer) are made up in order before the present prayer. Someone with many years of missed prayers makes up as many as he can each day, alongside the present prayers.

Part 4 Choose your khatm plan

Plan	Daily reading	One way to do it
One week	About 4 juz	The way of many Companions; the Prophet ﷺ told ʿAbdullāh ibn ʿAmr: "Read it in seven, and do not go beyond that" (al-Bukhārī 5054, Muslim 1159).
One month	1 juz (20 pages)	4 pages after each of the five prayers.
Two months	½ juz (10 pages)	2 pages after each prayer.
Three months	About 7 pages	1–2 pages after each prayer.
One year	About 2 pages	1 page after Fajr and 1 page after Maghrib.

Whatever your plan, read with correct tajwīd, and read a little of the meaning too. What matters most is a daily portion that never stops.

Part 5 The thirty ajzāʾ

When you complete a khatm, thank Allah, make duʿāʾ, and begin again. It is reported that Anas ibn Mālik would gather his family and make duʿāʾ when he completed the Qur'an (ad-Dārimī).

Duʿāʾ For the prayer

رَبِّ اجْعَلْنِي مُقِيمَ الصَّلَاةِ وَمِن ذُرِّيَّتِي ۚ رَبَّنَا وَتَقَبَّلْ دُعَاءِ

"My Lord, make me an establisher of prayer, and from my descendants. Our Lord, and accept my supplication."

Ibrāhīm 14:40.
